Plan a focused lesson

Level and alignment

Kindergarten • Massachusetts • Reading / oral language; RL.K.2. Focus: Retell key events from a familiar read-aloud with prompting and support.

What is included

One cover; one teacher guide; one mini-lesson with two explained models; 2 original text/reference section(s); 16 practice tasks on four pages; one four-task exit check; four answer-key pages covering all 20 tasks; two access/source/license pages. Student texts are original, not extracted from released tests.

Time and sequence

Four 8–12-minute supported sessions and a 5-minute oral check. Model first; use tasks 1–4 to check readiness; practice the remainder in short groups; give tasks 17–20 without the key.

Preparation

Print student pages separately from teacher pages. Provide pencils and extra paper; oral-response learners need an adult recorder. Review word meanings and prerequisite decoding or sentence skills. No paid app, novel, or external reading is required.

Student directions

Listen to the adult, then speak, point, draw, or act your response. Ask to hear the words or story again.

Learn the move

Read one story aloud twice before questioning. A retell says what happened, in order, and includes the important problem and ending. Model first, next, and finally. Children may speak, draw, or act. Adults record dictated words; do not score handwriting or decoding.

Model 1 • Retell: Jo lost a glove. Jo looked under a chair. The glove was there.

First Jo lost a glove. Next Jo looked under a chair. Finally Jo found it.

Model 2 • Is “Jo had a glove” a complete retell?

No. Add the missing problem, search, and discovery.

Try the task first. Then compare the reasoning, not just the final word.

A. The Paper Boat

Mina folded a paper boat. She set it in a shallow tray of water. The boat tipped, and Mina sighed. She dried it and made a wider bottom. This time the boat stayed up. Mina called her brother to see it float.

B. A Place for the Seed

Omar found a bean seed in the class seed jar. He put it on a dry plate. “It needs a place to grow,” said his teacher. Omar filled a cup with soil. He planted the seed and watered it. He placed the cup by the window and made a name label.

Practice • Read, reason, respond

Listen to the adult, then speak, point, draw, or act your response. Ask to hear the words or story again.

1. A: Who made the boat?

2. A: What did Mina do first?

3. A: What happened in the water?

4. A: How did Mina change the boat?

Practice • Read, reason, respond

Listen to the adult, then speak, point, draw, or act your response. Ask to hear the words or story again.

5. A: What happened after the change?

6. A: Whom did Mina call?

7. A: Put these in order: wider bottom; fold boat; boat tips.

8. A: Retell with first, next, and finally.

Practice • Read, reason, respond

Listen to the adult, then speak, point, draw, or act your response. Ask to hear the words or story again.

9. B: Who found the seed?

10. B: Where was the seed first?

11. B: Where did Omar put it before planting?

12. B: What did the teacher say it needed?

Practice • Read, reason, respond

Listen to the adult, then speak, point, draw, or act your response. Ask to hear the words or story again.

13. B: Name two things Omar did with the cup.

14. B: Where did he put the planted cup?

15. B: What did he make at the end?

16. B: Retell the seed's journey.

Exit check • Apply the skill

Adult reads prompts; record independent responses with the usual access supports.

17. Choose A or B. Tell the beginning.

18. Tell the main problem or need.

19. Tell what the character did about it.

20. Tell the ending without adding a new event.

Access and next teaching steps

AIG

Ask the learner to invent a new rhyme pair or retell from another character's view; explain the choice.

504

Follow the individual plan: breaks, enlarged print, extra time, reduced copying, or an alternative response method as documented. These are classroom options, not a statement of permitted test accommodations.

EC

Read all directions and stories aloud; model one response; use gestures, pictures drawn by the learner, or AAC. Record exact responses without demanding writing.

ESL

Explain word meanings with gestures before rhyme listening. Invite home-language retelling first; compare the target English sounds without judging accent.

Use the exit evidence

For each exit task, record 2 = accurate and complete for the stated prompt; 1 = partly accurate or missing a requested explanation; 0 = not yet demonstrated. Total 0–8 is a local teaching note, not a standardized score. For oral tasks do not penalize spelling or handwriting. Revisit the exact type of error rather than assigning a diagnostic label.

Next lesson: model one missed decision, let the learner try a new example, and compare the explanation. Extend only after the learner can explain the targeted skill.

Alignment, sources, and license

The objective is original wording describing a focused part of the cited standard; this is not a full curriculum or official practice test.
